THE INDEPENDENT PRESENTS PRIZE AND MONEY CAMPAIGN

LIBERAL RALLY AT GRIMSBY

Campaign Issues Discussed In Stirring Address — Liberal Victory Forecast.

The issues of the campaign were forcefully and trenchantly dealt with at a Liberal Rally held in Bunting's Hall on Saturday. A. G. Sampson, editor of the Halifax Chronicle was among the speakers, his address being characterized by vitriolic references to Hon. Mr. Stevens while Denton Massay also came in for attention. Others who addressed the meeting were the candidate, A. E. Coombs, Mrs. Greenwood, Joe J. Beach and Theo. Marshall, ex M. P. for Lincoln West.

Mr. A. H. Russ, president of the Liberal Association, presided.

Mr. Marshall who was the first speaker, stressed the desirability of the Liberals being given a clear majority over all other parties, there being no question but that the Liberal party would have the largest following. The policies of the party were not those of one man but were representative of all sections of the country. On the contrary Mr. Stevens came out with a platform and his followers must accept it and take his views. Bennett and his followers had ruled Canada for five years during which unemployment had increased and the average man had no money to buy and can't sell his labor, there being no export markets. One of the first things that King would do would be to correct that and with nearly all provinces Liberal there was a splendid opportunity to get together if the Liberals were returned to power.

He paid a high tribute to Mr. Coombs as a splendid type of citizen.

Mrs. Greenwood who introduced Mr. Coombs also alluded to his high qualifications for the efficient discharge of the duties of a representative of the riding. She urged the electors to return the Liberal party which had a background of sane administration during the nine years it was in office.

The candidate, Mr. Coombs, in the course of a forceful address read a letter he had received from Hon. Mr. King with reference to reasonable tariffs in which attention was directed to the fact that in his radio address of August 2nd no reference was made to the abolition of reasonable tariffs or to the abolition of any features of tariff legislation and administration as they existed when the previous Liberal government was in office. Mr. King further pointed out that in the Dunning budget of 1930 there was provided for the first time a reasonable tariff on fruits and vegetables. "These reasonable tariffs have remained a feature of Canadian Customs Laws up to the present time and to them the Liberal party naturally

Grape Crop Will Be 50 Per Cent. Of Normal Output

The grape crop from a survey based on actual cutting will be less than 50 per cent. of normal, Jack Challen, secretary of the Grape Growers' Association reported following an executive meeting last week. Delegates present from all sections of the grape belt presented reports on conditions in their district. From these reports it was apparent that the blues would be under 50 per cent. far less than earlier estimates published in the press. Reds and whites will be considerably down from estimates made earlier in the year. Only when cutting is completed will it be determined how far out estimates were.

Harry Clark, an employee at a local factory received a cut which required five stitches to close when he was struck on the hand by a heavy wrench and was attended by Dr. J. H. MacMillan. It is said that an argument arises between the two men which resulted in the alleged throwing of the wrench.

Mayor McPherson To Retire From Municipal Council

COUNTY JOINS IN APPEAL

To Co-Operate With St. Catharines In Appeal Re Widening And Straightening Highway Between Hamilton And Falls.

The Lincoln County Council in session Thursday afternoon decided to join St. Catharines in an appeal to the Ontario Department of Highways for the straightening and widening of Highway No. 8 between Hamilton and Niagara Falls.

The city's case was presented before the county fathers by Major H. J. Lockhart, Ald. H. M. Rogers, F. G. Cox and P. A. Wilson. As a result of the conference it was decided to send a joint delegation to Toronto to interview the Minister of Highways in the matter. The county council named the special roads committee as their delegates. The date for the interview has not been set.

Council adopted the report of the assessment committee which appointed Chairmen H. G. Mogg and Warden H. E. Osborne a committee to go to Toronto to interview H. L. Cummings, deputy minister of municipal affairs, re-speeding up a decision in the appeal of Morrissey from the equalized assessment of the county.

During his term of office Mayor McPherson has given all diligent service to the municipality. He has endeavored in every way to promote the town's interests, and has been ever ready to sacrifice himself with organizations having for their object the welfare of the community.

The cost of vocational education under a proposed amendment to the school act, making all pupils taking the vocational course county pupils, will be investigated. The chairman of education, Reeve Wm. Neatby, was instructed to secure detailed information as to present costs and estimated costs under the proposed change.

Council left Mothers' Allowance Committee appointment until the October session.

The October session will be held on the 18th, the day after election. There was some good humor comment relative to the date and a change was suggested, but when the question was put the regular meeting date was upheld unanimously. Warden H. E. Osborne, Reeve of Beamsville, presided over the session.

Hunt And McLean Open Branch Law Office In Grimsby

Messrs. Hunt and McLean, barristers and solicitors of Hamilton have opened a branch law office here above the Dominion Stores on Main Street. Their office will be open every afternoon and will be conducted by Mr. Montague McLean.

Mr. McLean graduated from the Law School at Osgoode Hall over a year ago, being called to the bar with honours and awarded the Matthew Wilson Memorial Scholarship. He has had considerable court experience since that time and recently successfully defended Dawson Macrae, the young Indian brave, charged with murder at Illinois.

Mr. Flett a native son of Scotland played the game of bowls in the old land and as a young man had helped in the construction of several greens. Some 35 or 40 years ago the late Jack VanDyke in his travels about the country came in contact somewhere with the game of bowls and decided that he wanted a bowling green of his own. He called in Mr. Flett and work was started. This green was laid out behind the old Lincoln House (now Hotel Grimsby) and was the first lawn bowling green in the peninsula. Mr.

Services at the home on Lincoln Avenue were conducted by Rev. A. Do Rose, of Knox church, and Rev. Stuart Woods, a former minister of St. An-

Ford V-8 or Chevrolet Trip to England Big Cash Prizes

To Be Awarded In Independent Subscription Campaign — Choice of Newest Model Ford V-8, Tudor or Chevrolet Standard 6 Coach to Winners — Ocean Passage to England by Canadian Line Fully Paid, as Second Prize — Four Other Major Cash Prizes — Cash Bonuses; Cash Commissions Paid To All Candidates Every Week. All Candidates Will Begin At Once — Everybody Must Win — No Losers.

OFFICIAL OPENING DATE, MONDAY, OCTOBER 11th

The Independent has now settled all details and today announces a big subscription drive to commence on Monday, October 11th. The ultimate winner of the campaign will be given his or her choice of the newest model Ford V-8, Tudor, or the Chevrolet Standard 6 Coach, fully equipped and license paid, to be presented absolutely without restriction or reservation of any kind to the winner at the close of the campaign.

To the Winner of the Grand Prize the Independent has definitely closed negotiations for a return trip to England to be taken at the convenience and pleasure of the Prize-Winner. The winners must pay for grapes on penalty of having the Liquor Control Board refuse to sell their products. They asserted that Mr. Odette did not live up to his promise.

All other Candidates, regardless of how many there may be, are to receive a cash commission of 20% on all subscription money collected. Those finishing in third, fourth, fifth, or sixth place, will be paid an additional amount as follows:

Third Place Winner, 50 per cent. additional of the commissions earned during the drive as well as weekly cash commissions; the Winner of fourth place will receive an additional position of 25 per cent.; the Fifth position Winner will receive an additional 25 per cent. and the Sixth Prize Winner will receive an additional 15 per cent.

All Candidates finishing below sixth place will receive at least 20 percent. cash commission payable weekly on all subscription money collected. Every Candidate is a Winner; there can be no losers.

Besides the foregoing money other cash bonuses will be awarded, the details of which are published on the inside of this paper. It is not likely that the readers of this paper have ever encountered a campaign of a competitive nature, restricted to local territory the prize of the magnitude of this campaign, or that offers a straight guarantee that every candidate participating will receive a prize of some kind. The very worst that any one can do is to be paid off in real money.

This campaign offers an opportunity to everyone on exactly the same basis. No special qualifications are necessary. The campaign is not intended to attract high-pressure salesmen, or, in fact, salesmen of any kind. It is designed for the benefit of the inexperienced person, man, woman or child, without the benefit of any previous training.

The campaign is based on the age old principle: that one will receive what he desires to receive, if only his desire is strong enough; for desire suggests a line of action which if followed will bring achievement just as sure as the night follows day.

Those who are at present with it regular employment are most fortunately situated in this campaign but anyone, with any spare time whatever, can turn that time into real advantage, with an excellent chance of becoming the ultimate winner.

It is hoped that this campaign will not be confused with anything of the nature of a Beauty Competition or Popularity Contest, or anything else of such impermanent worth. Everybody Wins Subscription Campaign is a straightforward business proposition, offering real returns to everyone in this neighborhood.

The campaign is undertaken by the Independent for the purpose of adding new subscriptions, thus widening the field of influence and usefulness, and increasing its value as an advertising medium. As advertising space in the principal item a newspaper has to sell, obviously, a bigger and more influential circulation means more advertising, and more advertising means a bigger and better paper.

This campaign is being instituted by the Independent in the belief that the depression is now being succeeded by better times and that prosperity lies just ahead.

The publisher will be disappointed unless the largest possible number of people take advantage of the subscription campaign, for it was designed to be of help not to just a few but to every person in the community.

Pull details of the campaign appear on two inside pages of this paper. After reading it thoroughly clip the entry blank, fill in your name and address, and bring it or mail it to the Campaign Department, then you are a fully accredited candidate, with an equal chance with anyone else of finishing the campaign with a newly won motor car; planning your trip to the Old Country; or pleasantly planning the best way to spend some of your newly acquired funds.

Open Letter From The Publisher -

DEAR FRIENDS:-

We are pleased to announce in this issue full details of a subscription campaign which this publication is about to launch, complete particulars of which will be found on pages four and five of this week's Independent.

The primary reason for instituting the campaign at this time is to indicate our belief that the years of depression are now being succeeded by a period of welcome and long awaited prosperity for our district and the desire to place our publication in a position to widen the service which it is endeavoring to render to the community.

By placing the Independent in homes which have been without it, we believe it will serve to more firmly knit together our community. Greater circulation means, of course, greater coverage for prospective advertisers who will more readily patronize a newspaper with a wide home circulation, and additional advertising will make possible a bigger and better paper.

In all friendliness we ask your co-operation in this drive. Many men and women who will enter this campaign as candidates will be our accredited representatives for its duration. We bespeak for them such co-operation as you can readily give, and we thank you in anticipation of the courteous hearing that the people of Grimsby and vicinity are ever willing to give representatives of worthwhile endeavours.

Hello again! Frost's in the air once more. So's Mario Beer! The NJLL moguls held one of their get-togethers Saturday, Kilrea to Detroit for seven grand. Hockey's coming but rugby's here. Purrson to don yellow and black striped sweater again and win some games for somebody's ambitious city. Varsity walloped Balmy Beach laddies sumpin' terrible last week. Tigers won over Roughriders. Heard somebody say, "a sumfin' game". Somebody (name one) sumpin' Silver Spike! Both teams put on juggling acts on the run and pyramid formations on the line that would have done credit to The Seven Boulevards Seven, the Five Fumbling Fitzgeralds and The Numerous Magres. Now that Beer is definitely "out", McLemore draws attention to the world heavyweight championship bout between Pierre Charles and George Godfrey in Brantford. Both participants, the winner being recognized as big shot by the Daffy International Boxing Union, have been training for weeks. Godfrey in a wheel chair and Charles in a straight-backed rocker. Charles learned his falling technique from his close study of the rocking chair.

Ido thoughts — Local high school entered in Coors rugby for first time in last three or four years, if announcement from St. Kitts is correct — grouped with Halifield and Beamsville — Beamsville's team of last year graduated on blue leaving a batch of midgets and a couple of bigger guys who have played but little — Saltfleet never did seem to have a good team — see you in the play-offs against Jimmy Boles' boys over Burlington way — pretty heavy team at the Bolton avenue institution this year — the two McLanes are just about what the team needed to "go places" — Buchan's captain again — too bad some of the fair sex up there wouldn't get to work and get together on some really original yells — why not "They, They"?

More rambling gab — Wotta man, wotta man! Chap by name of Cooper up Stoney Creek way clean up with 14 brass and coasted in on the senior championship. He should go a long way on the cinder track. Red, white and black supporters should have chance to cheer in earnest at Beamsville Friday at Intercholinic. Of course, that is if the athletes get in and fight for the dear ol' alma mater. Celebrating the expected victory, a good many of the track team supporters are going to land up in the Oldfellow's hall Friday night at the 20th Century Club dance. See you there. Murray Smart, elongated Smithville stud, was senior champion out there the other day. Watch him in the sprints and jumps. There's a brother, Stanley, who will also bear watching. Congrats to Bill McNiven, Murray McLean, Kay Fisher and Jean Boyd for cleaning up on Bolton avenue Monday. Orchids to the others who furnished competition, chief among whom were Don, Smith, Perry McLean, "Horned" Hill, Doris MacBride, Francis Jarvis and Mary Sims.

Comparing times, etc., of Grimsby and Beamsville schools; local sr. boys did hundred in 11 flat and two-twenty in 25 seconds, while Beamsville took 12½ for the hundred and 31½ for the longer dash. Green and gold did 14 foot six in running broad while Murray McLean did 18 foot 1 inch here. Perry McLean lacked exactly six inches of doing double what the seniors did down east in the pole vault event. No kiddin'. The winner did five foot even. But look, big guy down there heaved twelve pound shot 27 feet while Grimsby's best was three foot eight less. Let's see what the girls can do. Ouch! Francis Richardson and Beulah Martin tossed out a count of 179 in the senior 2½ minute throw and catch. Grimsby's high count was away down. Enough's enough, I can't stand any more of it. Beamsville girls look as if they will walk away with everything in sight.

ENJOY SOCIAL EVENING

The first meeting of the fall season of the Young People's Society of Trinity United Church took the form of a social gathering on Monday evening at Hunter's grove, west of the town when over two score were in attendance. A delightful evening was enjoyed in games and music, refreshments being served during the evening. The new summer cottage recently erected as well as another well appointed building on the property afforded excellent accommodation and the kind hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Hunter was much appreciated by the young people.

BARN DESTROYED
BY FIRE AT WINONA

One of the oldest barns in the district, which had been turned into an implement and fruit shed, owned by George Lewis, of Winona, was completely destroyed by fire about 1:45 Sunday afternoon. The smoke was first discovered when a pig pen attached to the barn, but it is a mystery how the fire started. Three thousand baskets and four thousand covers, as well as practically all of the implements, were destroyed, the estimated loss being $1,500, which is partly covered by insurance. Much blame is due to the Stoney Creek fire brigade, which made the run of almost five miles in 4½ minutes. Through their untiring efforts they were able to save Mr. Lewis residence, as well as the tenant house and stable. The barn was built by a great grandfather of Mr. Lewis.

Nearly 900 To Contest 245 Seats In Federal Election

Almost 900 candidates, all but a scattered few from five major parties, will contest the 245 seats in Canada's House of Commons on Oct. 14.

Nominations were held Monday in only 76 ridings, but the field swelled to 294 as the new parties — Reconstruction, Co-operative Federation and Social Credit — named candidates across the country.

Nominations for the other 169 seats will be held next Monday.

Liberals named 76 candidates, Conservatives 66, the C.C.F. 54, Reconstruction 27, Social Credit 36 and other groups a total of 21. Social Credit, which swept into power last month in Alberta under the leadership of William Aberhart, made a big stand in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Liberal Leader Mackenzie King entered the field in Prince Albert northern Saskatchewan riding which has sent him to the last three parliaments.
Hon. H. H. Stevens, Reconstruction leader, was nominated in Kootenay East.
Each has four opponents, including Social Credit.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett will be nominated next Monday in Calgary and J. H. Woodsworth, leader of the C.C.F., in Winnipeg North Centre.

To Abolish "Death Traps", Jordan Bridge And Bad Curve on No. 8

The two old "death traps" of highway No. 8, the Jordan bridge and the curve at the base of the Sixteen Mile hill, are to be abolished. Tenders were closed in Toronto on Saturday for the reconstruction of a new bridge at Jordan.
The new bridge will be 30 feet longer than the present one and will be two feet lower, thus taking off the bump at either end of the bridge.
The new structure will be approximately 20 feet wide and will be supported by one large span and two small spans.

At the Sixteen Mile hill the roadbed is to be moved 60 feet to the north and the present bridge widened.
The bank on the south side of the road is to be cut away and used to fill in the gully for the new roadbed.

- Learn All About It -

The purpose of the "Everybody Wins" Subscription Campaign is to increase the sphere of influence of this paper, so that news of local happenings will be broadcast far and near thereby giving valuable publicity to our town, which should result in increased prosperity to all. It will also increase the advertising value of your paper, bringing increased trade to local merchants thereby assuring that they can offer you better and ever better value.

Our objective will be accomplished by securing advance subscription payments from old and new subscribers, and securing payment from present subscribers who may be now in arrears.

The "Everybody Wins" Subscription Campaign invites men and women in all walks of life: boys and girls, whether employed, at school, or at leisure, to devote what time they can to the campaign with the assurance that every candidate must be successful and will be rewarded in a substantial way. There can be no losers in this campaign; everybody wins.

Please do not confuse this campaign with any other that may have come to your attention. Personal appearance, popularity, gaudiness or chance, have no place whatever in this campaign which will be decided entirely on results. Ability, energy, personal appeal, friendship and other factors, all may play their part, but all necessary qualifications are merely those that are possessed by everyone, so that everyone has an equal chance.

A deciding factor will undoubtedly be the DESIRE TO WIN. The person possessing this qualification in the highest degree will undoubtedly emerge the winner. It has been said that a person can get anything or do anything if he only wishes for it strongly enough, and the truth of this has been proved many, many times; so that the first thing to do in entering the campaign is to create that DESIRE TO WIN feeling. Once having created it, increase it to such an extent that your desire to win is stronger than a similar desire that others may have and if you do that, YOU WILL WIN,—nothing on earth can stop you.

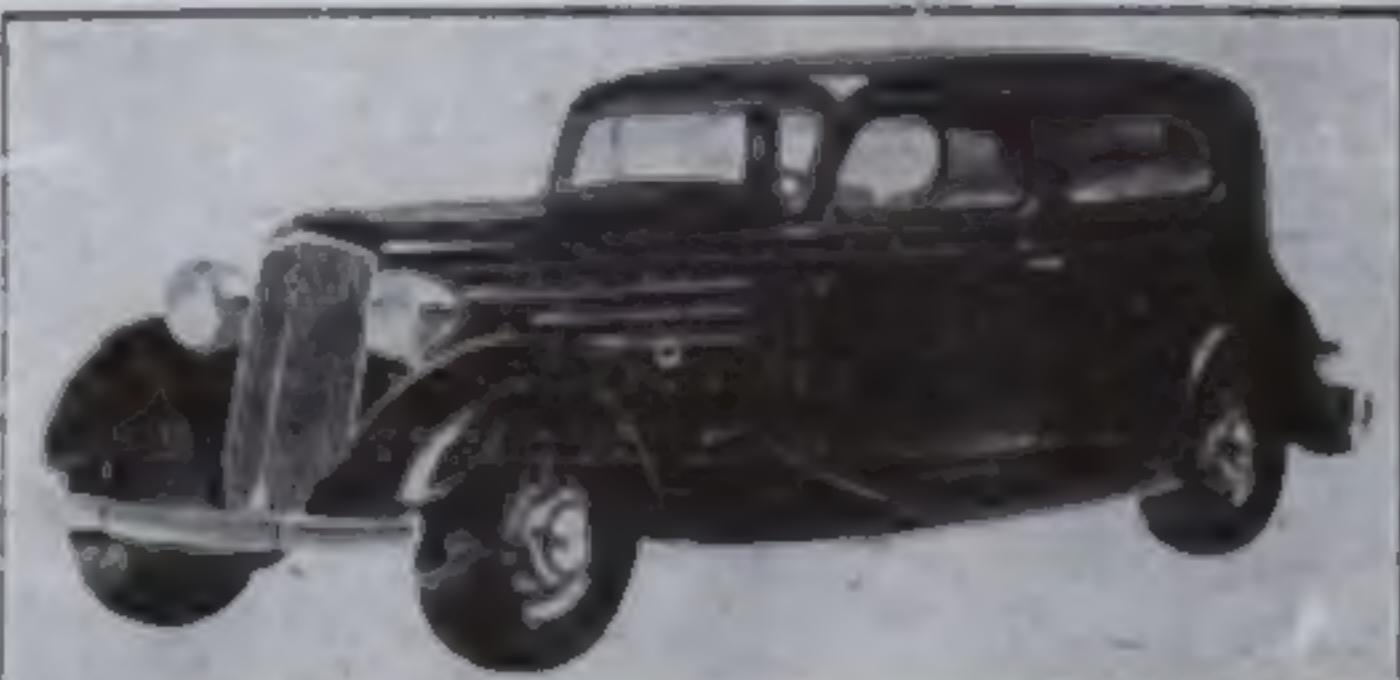

After securing your first 5,000 votes by filling in the entry blank, your natural desire is to increase your number of votes as quickly as possible. This is accomplished by clipping the vote coupons which appear on every issue of your newspaper. You are not restricted in any way in the number of votes secured in this manner; your friends will gladly give them to you. Start at once, before some one else has secured them instead of you. Each of these vote coupons adds 100 votes to your total if secured from this week's issue of the newspaper; and next week these coupons will be worth only 50 votes; the week following they will be reduced to 25; and after that they will not appear again. These vote coupons must be turned in to the campaign office within one week from the date of issue of the newspaper.

After having secured all the votes you possibly can by clipping coupons, you will find that you will make much quicker progress by selling new subscriptions to your newspaper, or getting renewals, from people who are at present subscribers; these early subscriptions increase your total very rapidly, as you will see by reading the vote schedule printed herewith.

TWO MAJOR Motor Car - Trip And Four Other Cash Awards As Well Candida

CAMPAIGN OFFICIALLY OPENS OCTOBER 1st

No more attractive major prizes have ever been offered anywhere in a newspaper competition:

FIRST—A brand new motor car, fully paid for, including license.

SECOND—A return trip to England at a season when the Old Country is at its best.

THREE, FOUR, FIVE AND SIXTH Prizes are in cash and will be of an importance that will bring a smile of satisfaction to the human desire we all have for big sums of ready cash.

From the start onward all candidates will be remunerated in proportion to the results they are able to secure; that is, a cash commission, paid every week during the campaign.

This Subscription Campaign is open to men and women, boys and girls, residing in Grimsby or surrounding territory. Every candidate will emerge a winner. Those not fortunate enough to secure one of the awards will be paid cash for their part in the campaign. Everybody wins; but the candidate who has the greatest desire to win will be awarded the major prize, nobody loses—everybody wins.

THE ENTRY FORM IS BELOW

Tear off this entry blank now; fill in your name and address, and bring it here to the newspaper office at once. This is the first step in the right direction; it automatically gives you 5,000 votes, and you will at once get the feeling that you are well on your way to the achievement of your desire,—to emerge from the contest the ultimate winner of the major prize.

ER 7 AND CLOSES NOVEMBER 23 [SEVEN WEEKS]

READ THIS ANNOUNCEMENT CAREFULLY— This is your opportunity; understand it thoroughly and take immediate advantage of the fortunate occurrence that may not come your way again. This is a campaign where everyone starts off on an equal footing. Everybody wins: there can be no losers. When next Monday rolls around the campaign is on; others are already planning on how to win the motor car or other awards. If you are not to give others any advantage, you, too, should start at once. The campaign will last for seven weeks, but an early start is most important because coupons that are clipped and subscribers that are secured during the early part of the Campaign have a much higher vote value than those secured later on; and it is plain that what is secured now by another candidate, cannot be secured by you at a later date.

As between the hare and the tortoise, everyone's sympathy is with the tortoise for he makes an immediate start and keeps on moving along allowing progress with the result that we all know.

An immediate start, then, is most important. Start now and keep at it. Then nothing can stop you from emerging victorious with your slogan: THE DESIRE TO WIN.

Following that, come in and see the campaign manager, and we will equip you with all that is necessary to launch yourself as a full-fledged candidate. A well known truth that the more business you expose yourself to the more results you will secure. To put it in plainer language: the more people that you call upon and urge to subscribe the more votes you will receive, and a better chance you will have of driving away from the close of this campaign, emerge from the campaign with a nest egg of cold cash—a better friend, we all know, no one ever had. Which of these awards you will eventually win depends entirely, as we have pointed out, on your DESIRE TO WIN.

This campaign is open to all except employees of this newspaper. The winner, and ultimate standing of all competitors will be decided by a Board of Judges to be announced later, and will be based upon the results of candidates which are to be in the form of votes secured through the vote coupons in this newspaper—new, paid-in-advance subscriptions, and cash collections. Where you live is of no consequence, the campaign is open to everyone. There is no advance in rates during this campaign; the subscription price of this paper will be exactly the same as it has been in the past. Every candidate must stand squarely on his own efforts. He should not receive assistance in any form from another candidate; but he may receive all possible help from anyone not participating in the campaign, for in that case it is assumed that it is due entirely to his own efforts. Any collusion between candidates may be the cause of disqualification. The vote coupons which appear in this newspaper, and will appear in later issues, must be turned in within one week from the date of the issue. All other votes can be turned in at any time at the discretion of the candidate. All candidates, for the duration of the campaign, are authorized by the publisher of your paper to make collections, but each candidate must be personally responsible for all money collected, and will turn in such collections on the report nights to be designated. The publisher cannot accept any responsibility for any statement or promise made by a candidate to a subscriber or possible subscriber unless such statement or promise is covered in this announcement. Making good this promise that everyone wins, each candidate will be paid a commission of twenty percent of all subscription money collected by him and turned into the campaign office. These commissions are payable at the end of each week. At the discretion of the campaign manager, if a candidate has been shown to be sufficiently inactive or apparently disinterested, or guilty of irregularity of any kind, he may be disqualified from the campaign, and forfeit any possible claim in any award other than the twenty percent commission above referred to; this he will be entitled to regardless of any eventualities.

It is understood and agreed that the winners of major awards cannot receive both the prize and the commission. They will relate to the campaign manager all commissions accrued before their awards can be given them.

To prevent the slightest possibility of any known leak that might conceivably help any candidate, a sealed ballot box to which no one will have access until the campaign has been concluded, will be placed in a local bank during the final week and all votes will be placed therein by each competitor. On the conclusion of the campaign the seals of the ballot box will be broken by a Board of Judges and the final count made by them. In this way it will not be possible for any one to have any information regarding the actual standing of any or all candidates. Report nights of the campaign are every Tuesday, Thursday & Saturday night and 5,000 extra votes will be given each candidate every time he makes his report on these specified nights.

25,000 extra votes will be credited to each candidate for every five year subscription, or payment of arrears in the same value turned in during the first week of the campaign. During the third week of the campaign 12,500 extra votes will be given for a like amount.

Every candidate who has earned $50.00 or more during the first week of the campaign will be given a bonus of $25.00 cash.

The publisher guarantees absolute fairness and impartiality to all candidates. Any difference or any possible difference of opinion as between candidates and publisher will be decided by the management of the campaign.

All candidates agree to abide by all conditions here set forth.

The above schedule of votes which is on a declining scale positively will not be changed during the campaign. A special ballot, however, good for 50,000 EXTRA VOTES will be issued on each "club" of $20.00 worth of subscriptions turned in. This arrangement will be in effect throughout the campaign and be considered a part of the regular vote schedule. This newspaper reserves the right, if so desired, to include job printing and advertising, in which event the above schedule of credit will obtain and in the same ratio for larger orders up to $1000 amount.

An accurate record will be kept of each candidate's business and each day that a candidate reports THREE or more subscriptions, a bonus of 5,000 "daily" report votes will be given. You gain by reporting each day in the week. IT IS THE VOTES THAT WIN!

Don't hesitate to ask questions if there is anything you don't understand.

SEE THE CAMPAIGN MANAGER AT ONCE

Board Of Judges —

This campaign will be conducted throughout its entire duration in an absolutely fair equitable manner; no influence can enter into competition but the influence of the candidates. Everything that can be done has been done to ensure that there can be no possible bias for anything but the most favourable comment on the manner in which the campaign is conducted.

A Board of Judges will be selected by the candidates themselves, from among men and women of known integrity residing in this district and the names of these judges will be announced later. The Board of Judges will have complete supervision over the manner in which the awards are made.

PEARL BELLAIRS

STORYBOOKS
Joan Denby of humble origin is introduced as a social equal of Miss La Fontaine, who meets Peter Hanan, millionaire, who forces his attentions on her. Lord Edwards proposes to Joan. Joan leaves Miss La Fontaine to become a mannequin at the Salons Colette.

"Oh, I can't! I couldn't marry you, really!"

He looked at her hard for a moment, and then asked quietly:

"Joan if I took you in my arms and kissed you now, what would you do?"

She glanced round hastily to see that there were other people about, and said at last, faintly:

"I think I'd die!"

"Oh," he said. "I see."

He rose and stood by the beach, and while she wondered what was going to happen next, he took a cigarette from his case and lit it. Then he looked down at her, and his voice when he spoke was very gruff:

"If that is how it is," he said, "I would rather you died in my arms than in those of some other man!"

She saw that nothing was gained. She fancied, indeed, that something was lost; because his tractable mood when he had been trying to reason with her had when it was possible to reason with him had vanished. He was grimly cheerful; he attempted no more discussion. When the ferry boat arrived at the East bank he marched her off it, with one hand gripping her arm, as though he had been marching her to gaol.

"Lovely evening we've had!" he said, as he walked her back to the car. "To think that other people go to Maldenhead and spend fortunes in road houses, when they could go to Woolwich and have as delightful an evening as we have had!"

When they drove away through the maze of the dingy streets he said:

"I've a passion for the old River Thames. There's something about the air on it which clears the mind. All the fogs of sentiment are driven out of one—to join the other fog, I suppose, along the river!"

Joan glanced at him uneasily. He was just as he had been at Cannes during that drive into the hills when he had refused to turn back, only now he was even grimmer.

"I'm glad to hear that it has made you more reasonable," she said in a light, friendly tone, trying to make out what he meant now.

"More reasonable, more sensible, more unscrupulous in finding ways to get what I want and mean to have!" he replied with cold emphasis, and her heart sank.

When they arrived at Woolsey Street he pulled up the car at the corner, and escorted her on foot over the excavations to the door of the Denbys' house. He bade her goodnight in tones of polite detachment, and left her there, without another word.

Very tired, bewildered with the difficulties of life, and inclined to smile at them now that she heard them driving away with a roar into the distance, Joan answered Mrs. Denby's questions.

"We just sat on the ferry," she said, "and talked about things."

Mrs. Denby, who knew that she was truthful, was bound to believe her story.

"I have thought you'd been off— I didn't know you stay on for a ride like that," she said. "But there, 'course, they wouldn't like to turn him off! Well, I must say, it's a funny taste, sitting on Woolwich ferry!"

"I wouldn't mind sitting on Woolwich ferry if it was with someone else!" Joan said with a smile.

"Don't you like him, Jenny girl?"

Joan shook her head, and her expression, her faintly pucker'd mouth, was so much like that of a little girl recollecting a dose of nasty medicine that Mrs. Denby was completely convinced.

"Well!" she said. "Perhaps it's all for the best!"

But though she was relieved at what she felt removed a danger to Joan from this acquaintance, she felt a little sorry for the man. A fine big fellow he was, as lively and good a fellow as one could hope to meet, in spite of his riches.

CHAPTER X

TRIALS OF A MANNEQUIN

Next morning at the Salons Colette everything went smoothly for Joan. She stood while a designer modelled a frock on her, and exhausting process which took three hours, but in which she was very interested, as this was the sort of work which he hoped one day to do herself.

Lovely lengths of gold lame were smoothed and insulated about her figure, and moulded into cunning folds. She could watch the fascinating progress of the work in front of which she was standing. At the sides and back were other mirrors reflecting the gown from every angle.

At one period of the proceedings Joan became so interested that after the designer, a temperamental-looking Frenchwoman of noble birth, had tried and failed to achieve the required effect at the bottom of the skirt, Joan impulsively pointed out how it could be done.

She could have bitten out her tongue as soon as she had done it, for she knew that she had no business to speak, and the designer, the Comtesse Loti, looked extremely perturbed.

"Oh dear!" thought Joan. "What have I done?"

But after trying in other ways for a moment or two, the Comtesse Loti adjusted the material as Joan suggested with the desired effect.

Amidly she acknowledged Joan's good sense by a nod of the head and a smile, which made Joan glow with pleasure where before she had been cold with dismay.

She went to her luncheon feeling pleased with herself, but an uneasy expectation as she walked along the streets, her eyes open all the time for the appearance of a striking figure or a familiar car.

No Words are Found

Mary Constance Fowler in Spirit never to stop upon the fragrance share.

The red eye follows as the vessel drifts.

It is to have known what lies there.

Little more

Than birds know further than the pinion lifts.

Only in loving may the heart know love.

Their countious words, who sing, are moaning tales.

Of dim-remembered dreams, where shadows move.

Unknown to day; and daylight failing fails.

True, spell out color in a blind man's hand,

As for the deaf turn color into sound;

On these. There are no words, though they are sand.

To tell love to the loveless. None are found.

And to be loved, not loving, is but to know.

The sun is heat upon the lids, no light.

Therefore the smile is secret, the tongue is slow.

And failure, seeking words to translate sighs.

Put A Red Ring

Around The 13th

Winnipeg.—Fred Wiles put a red ring around the 13th on his calendar, after he was handed $82 of "found" money at the police station. In fact, two Friday the 13th's got the red insignia. He found the money on March 13 last and turned it in to the police station. Nobody claimed it and now he has received it back.

In Wrong Few

A minister consented to preach during his vacation in the country at an Episcopal church. When he arrived at the church on Sunday morning the sexton welcomed him and said: "Do you wish to wear a purple, sir?"

"Brother," replied the minister, I am Methodist. What do I care about purple? All I know is about defects."

ANECDOTES

This story of Mark Twain and the old lady in the Pullman should not be let die—says Cyril Clemens (in "Mark Twain Wit and Wisdom," a splendid collection of 151 stories and anecdotes about the famous humorist who was born one hundred years ago, come November 30 next):

Exhausted to the point of extinction by a very full day in Chicago, Mark boarded the night train for New York and retired to his berth at once for (as he fondly thought) a long night of blissful repose; but just as he was slipping over the border-line between walking and sleeping he heard an old lady's voice wistfully soliloquizing and telling herself how thirsty she was, with the regularity and persistence of the ticking of a clock.

"Oh, I am so thirsty!"

At last, unable to bear the nuisance any longer, Mark got up in his nightclothes and groped his way the length of the cold, dark car to where the drinking water was kept. Filling a glass, he carried it back to the elderly victim of leprosy and thirst. This good deed done and a payment in heart-felt thanks from the old lady duly pocketed, Mark got back into his berth and pulling the blankets up over his head with a deep sigh of relief and content snuggled down to sleep. But just as the man was heading over him a new all-too-familiar and accursed voice began to complain and kept it up at minute intervals the rest of the night:

"Oh, I am so thirsty!"

And here is Irvin B. Cobb's contribution to Mr. Clemens' collection:

A young reporter called one morning as the west humorist lay reading and smoking in bed, and announced that he would like his life-story for his newspaper: Mark Twain took a draw on his pipe and commenced:

"Well, in the days of King George the Third when I was a young man I used to . . ."

"Put on me, right there!" interrupted the reporter. "I know that you are not a spring chicken, but how could you possibly have been living during the time of George the Third?"

"Fine, young man," retorted Mark, smilingly offering the young man a cigar, "I heartily congratulate you. You are the first and only reporter I have ever met in my whole life who corrected a mistake before it appeared in print."

By the way, Cyril Clemens is president of the International Mark Twain Society, and a relative of the beloved humorist whose real name was, of course, Samuel L. Clemens.

Both grass and soil from pastures that have been grazed for a number of years without manure or phosphate applications will show a deficiency of phosphorus. Even if most of the droppings of grazing animals are returned to the pasture there is a net loss of phosphorus in the production of live stock and their products. This continued removal of phosphorus, never very abundant in the soil, soon becomes a limiting factor in the growth of desirable pasture crops, particularly the legumes. The failure of legumes, and particularly white clover, due to phosphorus deficiency, contributes further to the thinning of the grasses dependent upon the legumes for nitrogen.

Superphosphate (acid Phosphate) is the first fertilizer material to me and the one most likely to pay through stimulation of both legumes and grasses. Application of 300 to 500 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate per acre or its equivalent is recommended and should last from three to five years.

Commercial nitrogen in addition to superphosphate, applied at the rate of 200 to 250 pounds per acre as soon as growth starts in the Spring, will advance growth from one to two weeks. To avoid burning the tender leaves, apply when the pasture is dry.

Under conditions where very few desirable pasture plants remain it may be better to plow, harrow, and reseed the land with an adapted pasture mixture than to depend upon fertilizers alone for rejuvenation.

APPLE COLOUR CHART

There has been a steady demand for the apple colour chart prepared recently by the Horticultural Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, to assist in the harvesting of McIntosh and Pansy apples at the proper stage of maturity. This chart may be obtained free on application to the Publicity and Extension Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Winnipeg.—Fred Wiles put a red ring around the 13th on his calendar, after he was handed $82 of "found" money at the police station. In fact, two Friday the 13th's got the red insignia. He found the money on March 13 last and turned it in to the police station. Nobody claimed it and now he has received it back.

"Who is this Giovanni Filipe Sone?"

"Oh, he is one of our most famous Italian composers."

"Indeed! I am very interested to hear it. Is he as famous as Verdi?"

"Well, perhaps not quite so famous as Verdi; he is young yet, you see."

"Have you ever seen him?"

"I do not remember. Sone?"

At that point Sone turned to his wife and said to the clerk:

"Then let me introduce you to his wife: This is Signora Sone."

And Mrs. Sone, in turn, observed:

"Permit me to introduce my husband, Signor Giovanni Filipe Sone, the composer of 'The Washington Post!'

There was much explanation and laughter and then the clerk nobly offered to charge Sone only the wholesale price for a pirated copy of his own march.

of hundreds of letters that express the gratitude of the writers for helpful advice and guidance. And what has helped so many others, has, I suggest, a message for you, too. If you are not in the right way.

This might also be an opportunity for me to reiterate once more that the advice I give is not necessarily final and arbitrary. I often have letters from readers of my articles or listeners to my radio broadcasts, telling me definitely that they will do whatever I advise. In some cases this has to do with a choice between two men for a suitable husband for a girl who writes me, and it is a tremendous responsibility to have to tell me whether to take this or that. In others, it is a matter of disposition you have, or your boy friend or girl friend—then I can help you there. Graphology also shows whether a writer is reserved and semi-naive, or spontaneous and ardent; greedy and selfish or kind-hearted; broad-minded and tolerant; narrow-minded and partial; refined and cultured or purely physical; calm and collected or impulsive; good and bad.

Graphology also shows whether a writer is reserved and semi-naive, or spontaneous and ardent; greedy and selfish or kind-hearted; broad-minded and tolerant; narrow-minded and partial; refined and cultured or purely physical; calm and collected or impulsive; good and bad.

MODERN BUILDINGS ON THE FARM

Neglect Means Early Decay
And Property Loss
To Owner

Around the countryside there are to be seen quite a number of wooden buildings in a rather dilapidated condition. They are not only a blot on the landscape but they are a distinct loss in property value to the owners. "A stitch in time saves nine" applies with force to the upkeep of buildings. A nail, a dab of paint, a new piece of lumber in time, not only lowers cost of repairs but adds much to the length of life of the buildings.

Water-tight Covering

All wood and metal surfaces when protected by a coat of paint have many years added to their life. The paint does much more than add to the appearance. It serves as an air and water-tight covering which prevents moisture and oxygen acting upon the wood or the metal.

An unpainted board exposed to the weather will crack, check and warp. Take a similar piece of board, give it a good coat of paint on every surface and it will remain in good condition as long as the coat of paint remains in good condition. The moment, however, that the paint begins to crack or to blister it begins to lose its power of protection.

Mossing Away

Wood that has rotted holds moisture and air in the right combination to hasten the decay of wood with which it comes in contact. Because there is no strength to the decayed part of the wood painting it does little or no good. If there is a rotten core beneath the surface, it is almost impossible to cover the surfaces with a coat of paint that will prevent enough air and moisture entering to keep up the decay. When the process is once started, very little air and moisture is required to keep it going.

Alternating Wet and Dry

Wood that at one time is subjected to a good deal of moisture and at another is dried out, decays more rapidly than it does when subjected to moisture all the time.

A post in the ground remains in good condition in that part that is under the surface of the ground and also that part exposed to the air. It rot away just at the surface of the ground where at times it is very wet and at others very dry. This change from wet to dryness seems to eat the post right away at this point. The part exposed to the air may check and crack, but it does not rot. The part that is buried, if the ground is always damp at the point where it is buried, will last indefinitely if the ground is wet part of the time and very dry part of the time, it will rot out soon.

This means that all under-pinnings of buildings that are built close to the ground, so that the wooden underpinning is periodically wet and then dry, require careful attention. If no other part of the building is given attention, these underpinnings should be.

If the timbers are painted as thoroughly as they can be, this will help. As soon as there is any sign of decay in a timber it will be good investment to replace it with a sound piece before the decay has continued, or until the adjoining timbers are also decayed.

It is surprising how rapidly the average building will fall to pieces if it is abandoned. No paint here, a decayed timber there, and soon the structure is weakened to such an extent that it begins to fall to pieces. Before very long it is a pile of ruins. Just replace the weakened timber before any harm has come to the building, keep the building painted and it will last for hundreds of years.

It is a case of giving attention in time, if buildings are to last. Every act of neglect may mean a loss later of many dollars in the value of the building.

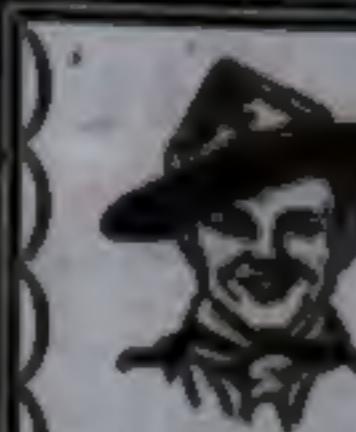

Labor-saving Devices Used Even In Old Spinning Wheel Days

London, Ont.—Labor-saving devices were the rage even in the days when an old spinning wheel was to be found in every home. Professor Fred Landau, University of Western Ontario librarian has discovered.

The library has just been presented with an old spinning wheel that had a device on it to save a lot of work on the part of the person doing the spinning.

It is known as a swinging spinning wheel. Instead of walking back and forth with the yarn, the spinner sits still, and lets the wheel swing toward him, and back again. The relic was presented to the library by the Lobo Union school planning committee, after it had been repaired and reconstructed by J. E. Bycraft of Ilderton.

Mrs. Bycraft also presented the university with a fan holder of an old spinning wheel. In the holder was some ray prepared for spinning more than half a century ago, by Catherine Hampton, Mrs. Bycraft's grandmother.

Holland made a bid at the recent International Scout Conference for the next World Scout Jamboree, which will be held in 1937. Decision will be announced early in November.

Members of St. Paul's Church Scout Troop of Edmonton, as winners of the Alberta junior firstaid shield, were presented with the shield and individual medals by Lt.-Gov. Walsh at a gathering in Masonic Temple.

A party of Rover Sea Scouts from Cambridge University called in a small schooner to take part in the World Rover Scout Meet in Sweden. They went by way of the Kiel Canal, through Germany, where they were given a most friendly reception.

The 12th Toronto Sea Scouts were presented by Vice-Commander T. K. Wade of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club with a portable shed, which the boys turned into a combination boat-house and cabin house on a site at Ashbridge's Bay. The group owns a motorboat and a chugging boat, a messenger service and an information bureau.

The 2nd World Rover Meet, or international gathering of Rover Scouts held in Sweden in July, was attended by young men from 21 different countries. Canada was represented by a patrol of five, from different parts of the Dominion.

The danger of boys of adolescent age becoming discouraged because of inability to find employment is great.

Ex Mayor Stewart of Toronto is announced as the chief speaker for the Conservative candidate, N. J. M. Lockhart, in the community hall on October 8. Hon. Harry Stevens is billed for the same hall on October 10.

The funeral of the Rev. Vaughan, of Louth township, was held at the Jarrow Station United church on Sunday afternoon, interment being in the Oak Lawn cemetery there.

William Morris of the Lakeshore Tufford reported to County Constable Tufford that thieves had broken into his barn on Wednesday night and stole tools as well as the gasoline from his tractor and a bucket to carry the gasoline in. Later the pail was found at the bottom of the bank at the lake front.

Beamserville reverted to Standard Time again on Saturday night at 12:00 p.m.

Donald Sinclair underwent an operation for the removal of his tonsils.

Joseph Denomill, 29, Westchester Avenue, St. Catharines, was lodged in Lincoln county jail last week on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated, after striking a car driven by Harry Randal of Toronto, on the Sixteen Hill. A companion of Denomill is alleged to have deserted the scene of the accident and has not been found. Both cars involved in the accident were badly wrecked. Provincial Constable D. H. Dury of Beamserville made the arrest.

Thieves who broke into the office of the Beamserville Co-Operative Growers at the shipping station on Saturday night, gained little for their pains. It is understood that only about $3.00 in cash and a few stamps were taken. An attempt was made to open the safe. County Constable George Seymour is investigating.

Frank J. Thomson learned that the thieves who raided his store early Sunday morning had been captured. The Toronto police department telephoned to Mr. Thomson last week to ask him to whom he had sold the radio with the serial number which they quoted, and after learning that the radio had been stolen the police at once arrested the two men that they had in their custody.

The men had in their possession when arrested a high-powered repeating rifle, but it is not known whether or not they had this when they raided the store. Besides the radio the men stole $60 in cash and about $35 worth of cigarettes. Isaac Robbie brought the men from Toronto to stand trial.

Stewart Pinnow, a member of the prize winning Beamserville Band, has reported to police that his clarinet was stolen from the Town Hall on Monday night last. Mr. Pinnow forgot the instrument after band practice on Monday night and when he returned for it on Tuesday morning the instrument was gone. The musician values his clarinet at $50.

Several more constables have been sworn in and are on duty in Salfleet township guarding the orchards and vineyards.

A pleasing and instructive address was given Friday night to the members of the fire brigade by Captain J. O'Connor, of the Hounds department. He was particularly pleased with the discipline and co-operation of the unit, something that he declared was absolutely essential in every fire brigade.

The Well Raiser's clinic that has been closed during the summer months will reopen on Monday, October 7, in the village council room.
